

SAVES TWO BABIES FROM FIRE DEATH

"Vamp" Seventy Years Old
Carries Them Down Smoke-
Filled Hallway.

Dave Bell, an old volunteer fireman, who keeps a chop house at Third avenue and One Hundred and Thirty-seventh street, saved George Danz's two babies from being burned to death last night. Mr. and Mrs. Danz were awakened from their home, No. 250 East One Hundred and Thirty-seventh street, over a stable where the fire started. Long before the professional firemen arrived Dave Bell, seventy years old, had rushed from his chop-house, dashed up the smoke-filled stairway and brought the smothering youngsters to safety. Four horses and several wagons in the stable, which Mrs. Mary Mooney owns, were burned. Loss about $1,000.

THREE BOUNCING BOYS HAVE CLAIM TO WATCH.

Man Who Offered Timepiece to First Male Child Born Gets News of Triplets.

Joseph Herzog, a retired merchant, of No. 2188 Bathurst avenue, will ask President Roosevelt to suggest names for the Herzog triplets, born last night in his country house in Norwood Park, N. J. The babies are boys, and weigh four and a half, five and a half and six and a half pounds.

CHARLES F. MCKIM SICK.

Architect May Not Return to Office for Six Months.

Charles F. McKim, of the firm of McKim, Mead & White, the architect, is seriously ill at a rest cure in Connecticut, and it is said today his condition is such that he may not return to his office for six months.

Mr. McKim suffered an attack of congestion of the lungs last winter. He had hardly regained his strength before he was taken down again with the same disease. He then went to Connecticut, where he is now recovering.

FREE SUMMER ART CLASSES.

REGALS

FOR MEN AND WOMEN

Oxfords With Real Character

There's an individuality—a real thoroughbred character—about Regal Oxfords that raises them far above other makes, and into the ranks of the made-to-order kind.

You'll note the custom features of the low-cut illustrated here. In addition to correct style-shaping and celebrated Regal materials, it has that valuable factor of perfect fit which spells "satisfaction" in low shoes. Regal Oxfords hug the heel, and they fit smoothly at the ankle—always.

The experience of sixteen years of expert shoe-building is incorporated in every pair of Regals. The millions of customers in the 360 Regal Stores and Agencies are our best advertisements. They know the shoes—and buy them year after year. You'll always find your exact fitting in exclusive Regal quarter-sizes.
